RICHMOND THEATRE

Charles Ray, the ever popular young star in Paramount Pictures, will be seen in his latest photoplay, "The Law of the North," at the Richmond Theatre tonight.

Mr. Ray has an unusually strong role in this Thomas H. Ince photoplay, that of a strong man of the far North who is known as the "Eaglet." He is the son of the commandant of a trading post, and when his father is murdered, he begins a pursuit of the assassin which for dramatic action is unequalled by any scene in any other motion picture. The love element, is perhaps the strongest feature of this admirable story, and its development affords the spectators numerous surprises.

GERMANS RESPONSIBLE

Secretary Lansing yesterday informed the German government that it is wholly responsible for treatment accorded the civilian population in Belgium since October 20, which was the day the German government gave solemn assurance that its soldiers were under the strictest instructions to spare private property and exercise care for the population of invaded districts. Mr. Lansing said that if these acts are perpetrated it will confirm the belief that "the solemn assurances of the German government are not given in good faith."

UNITED WAR CAMPAIGN DRIVE.

State Chairmen Carrington Expresses Confidence in Result.

The following telegram has been received by Judge J. K. M. Norton from T. M. Carrington, state chairman, United War Work Campaign:

Despite the cheering news that peace is an early prospect it will take a long time to bring our boys home without added efforts on our part. Demobilization will become demoralization. As the boys went over the top at Sedan yesterday we must follow them over the top in the campaign next week. It is imperative that Americans increase the amount asked for the United War Work Campaign. The convention held in Richmond yesterday voted every community should be asked the consider the need to increasing its subscriptions in transmitting this reolution to you may I say that I have the fullest confidence in the generosity and patriotism of your community and am assured that under the circumstances you will do what is right."

Signed T. M. Carrington, State Chairman.

GERMANY COLLAPSING

Red Flag of Naval Rebels Said to be Floating Over Helgoland and North Sea and Baltic Coast Bases. Berlin in Hands of Mob.

London, Nov. 9.—Two German warships have been blown up at Hamburg and two at Kiel, according to a report reaching here early today.

Copenhagen, Nov. 9.—The Workmen's and Soldiers' Council has blocked the Kiel Canal by throwing warships lengthwise across it, according to dispatches received here today.

Twenty-eight persons have been killed in riots at Kiel, according to information from Berlin today.

The Hague, Nov. 9.—The unconfirmed report was received here today that insurgents have seized Berlin, setting fire to the postoffice and city.

A general railway strike has been called in Germany, according to a dispatch to the Copenhagen Social Demokraten. The dispatch said there are 200,000 deserters in Berlin.

Amsterdam, Nov. 9.—Emperor William of Germany has declined to accede the demands that he abdicate says a German wireless dispatch picked up here last night.

London, Nov. 9.—Prince Maximilian of Baden, the Imperial German Chancellor, has resigned, according to a German wireless dispatch picked up here last night.

Amsterdam, Nov. 9.—From the maze of fragmentary dispatches across the borders of the German empire before the iron lid of censorship was clamped down upon every scrap of news that does not emanate from the government itself, three reports stand out as showing Germany may utterly collapse internally before she has a chance to answer Foch's armistice terms. The reports are:

1. That a republic has been proclaimed in Bavaria.

2. That Helgoland, the German Gibraltar, is in the hands of the naval rebels, who have hoisted the red flag on ten other important coast bases and control the whole of Germany's North Sea and Baltic coasts.

3. The nation-wide cry for the Kaiser's abdication has crystallized into an ultimatum by the Reichstag's majority bloc and by the Socialists separately.

It appears that one day of grace at the most, remains for the Kaiser to go voluntarily before he is swept away. The ultimatum also involves renunciation by the crown prince of his right to the throne. The entire fleet at Kiel, completely under control of rebel sailors, who have hauled down the imperial naval ensign and hoisted the red flag of revolt in its place, has steamed out of the great port upon a mysterious mission. The ships' officers are doing the mutineers bidding; those who balk are killed.

The Emperor's brother, Prince Henry, nominal commander-in-chief of the whole German army, was forced to flee from Kiel in an automobile. It flew the red flag, but failed to deceive the rebels. A group of marines chased it and fired several volleys at the royal occupant whose fate is unknown.

Practically all German coast towns including the three "free cities" of Hamburg, Luebeck and Bremen, are in the hands of the revolutionaries.

From dozens of places bloody riots are reported, women joining in the street battles.

READY FOR BIG DRIVE

United War Work Campaign Will be Launched Monday—Chaplains Will Speak in Interest of Affair at Churches Tomorrow.

Everything is in readiness for the United War Work Campaign to start promptly at 9:45 on Monday morning in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. Enthusiasm is running high and it is known that the citizens of this town will fully subscribe the allotment of $30,000 to help carry on the activities of the Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association, Salvation Army, National Catholic War Council (Knights of Columbus) War Camp Community Service, American Library Association, Jewish Welfare Board.

On tomorrow morning chaplains from Camp Humphreys will deliver addresses in the churches of this city. Many stories are told of those men in battle. One went over the top with the second wave of British troops, then sought an eminence from which, through glasses, he could see the wonderful panorama below him, next inspected the remnants of the Hindenburg Line, which the Huns deserted in their wild flight, and later, witnessed the first examination of seven thousand new prisoners. This red-blooded American clergyman has just returned from overseas in a Y. M. C. A., uniform. His experiences are typical of the spirit being shown by the Y., Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army toilers and the rest of the United War Work Agencies. Shells and powder are often as feathery beds of ease to them and cakes of T. N. T. served as a table.

Soldier life of today has changed. This is best shown by recalling the old lines:

"Pay day! Pay day!
What shall we do with the drunken soldier?
Put him in the guard house until he gets sober.
Pay day! Pay day!"

That used to be the procedure all right, but it isn't so now. Pay day to-day, but it isn't so now. Pay day to the men of the A. E. F. means elbowing into the "Y" canteen, "tanking up" on cocoa or hot lemonade, eating sandwiches and pudding and stuffing one's blouse and cap with oranges for future use. And the Women's Division of the Y. M. C. A., which has sent 700 picked young women from this country to serve American soldiers in the canteens in France, is interested in keeping pay day from meaning drunken soldiers.

To that end, too, the Women's Division is putting all its support back of the United War Agencies.

RESOLUTIONS

Sharing in the deep sorrow which has come to the families of our members, James J. Goodwin, and Harry Priest, we, the members of J. R. N. Curtin Memorial Baraca Class of the First Baptist Church of Alexandria, Va., desire to express in this record our deepest sympathy in this, their hour of greatest sorrow.

Resolved: That by the death of these members the class has sustained a loss, but it was God's way, and we bow humbly to his divine will.

God's ways are mysterious and past finding out. "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." All that we can say to our sad heart is, "Be still and know that I am God."

Resolved: That these resolutions be published in the Alexandria Gazette, a copy furnished the families and entered upon the minutes of this class.

RED HUNS LOOK TO T IR

They Believe Roosevelt-Taft Policy Would Aid Them, Neutral Diplomat Says.

Berne, Nov. 9.—A neutral diplomat, who has just arrived in Berne from Germany, says that both Government circles and the people generally are facing two alternatives—complete acceptance of President Wilson's conditions or revolution.

The depression throughout Germany is appalling. People everywhere are exclaiming "We are lost"

When the neutral diplomat attempted to console certain highly placed Germans by saying that they might depend on Wilson seeing that Germany got justice, one of them replied: "That is exactly what we fear."

They asked the diplomat: "What about Taft's and Roosevelt's manifesto concerning Germany's unconditional surrender?" And he replied: "The Bolsheviki, who are becoming fairly powerful in Germany, hope that the Taft-Roosevelt policy will prevail, as they consider that this would help Bolshevism."

The diplomat believes that the Junkers also prefer the Taft-Roosevelt policy as more likely to be tactless than the Wilson policy. The best Swiss opinion, particularly French-Swiss opinion, favors the Wilson plan, because, it is argued, he aims at creating a genuinely liberal party in Germany and preventing the militarists from predominating. By the exercise of tact, judgment and discretion, the diplomat says, Germany may now be brought uncompromisingly to accept the Wilson conditions.

German opinion is that the Kaiser will certainly abdicate sooner or later and that the Crown Prince will resign the right of succession.

BOMB MANY TOWNS

Allied Airmen Attack German Cities With Great Success

London, Nov. 9.—During October despite the prevalence of fog and thick midst throughout the Rhine valley, the British independent air force made raids over important German towns, exclusive of numerous raids upon German airdromes at Frescaty, Hulhaza, and Jametz.

This achievement is the more striking in view of the fact that long distance flying was only possible twenty days of the month. Of these, only seven days could be described as fair, while nine were highly unfavorable for flying operations. Hundreds of tons of bombs were dropped during the raids.

During the month there were twenty-five raids upon Metz-Sablon. The famous railway triangle is of exceptional importance to the enemy at present.

Photographs taken during recent raids show as many as twelve or fifteen enemy troops and ammunition trains crowded into the southern arm of the triangle alone at one time.

Although it is not possible on every occasion to secure direct hits upon wagons containing ammunition and other highly explosive substances, the permanent way and intricate net work of crossings is extensively damaged almost daily by the British bombing squadrons, necessitating the constant employment of large repair gangs, and causing grave delay to the enemy's military transport. For similar reasons the enemy junction at Thionville has been repeatedly attacked during the month.

FA[illegible]DEPENDENTS" THICK

Thousands of Cases of Fraud By Soldiers Found.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Thousands of cases of fraudulent acceptance of Government allowances intended for soldiers' or sailors' dependents have been discovered by special investigators of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, and a campaign of prosecution and recovery has been instituted.

As a result, it was announced yesterday that about one-third of the 400,000 claiming dependency, who are now receiving checks, will be dropped from the rolls when it is shown that they were not dependent on a soldier before he entered the service.

With 4,000,000 men already under arms overseas and at home, the feeling is growing that no more will be needed, even though it may be a long time before American forces can be recalled from France and some additional men may be sent over.

MONTHLY WAR CONTRIBUTION

Belgium has been compelled to pay a total of $500,000,000—half a billion dollars—to Germany in the form of a monthly "war contribution" in the four years since the war began, according to an official computation received by the Belgian Official Information Service in Washington from Havre yesterday. This amount is exclusive of the huge sums that have been extorted from Belgian corporations, cities, towns and civilians under the guise of "fines" and "assessments." These figures show that Belgium has been taxed by Germany at the rate of $400,000 a day, $16,000 an hour, and $250 a minute since the war began.

HAIG HAMMERING AWAY

British Gain in North; Haig Announces 18,000 Prisoners Captured Since November 1—German Commissioners Dejected.

London, Nov. 9.—The German reply to the terms laid down by the allies and the United States for an armistice is not expected before Sunday night at the earliest, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris.

Paris, Nov. 9, 7:15 a. m.—The parliamentaries (armistice envoys) are conferring in a peaceful chateau near Senlis, the Echo de Paris stated today.

Paris, Nov. 9.—The German armistice delegates, during their interview with Marshal Foch, appeared greatly dejected, it was learned today.

London, Nov. 9.—Haig hammered home new telling proofs yesterday that the war is still on. The Americans on the Sedan front did likewise. The French and Belgians refused to be outdone. The whole 200-mile front from Holland to the Meuse continues flame, and everywhere Germans are suffering blow after blow.

Avesnes, the rail town and link between Maubeuge and Hirson was captured by Haig's forces today in the course of a smashing advance along a front of almost fifty miles as far north as Tourmai, the western part of which also is in British hands.

Only seven miles south of Aversnes runs the road by which the German armistice delegates reached the front yesterday.

Along that same road, via Fournies, a scarce half dozen miles southeast of Avesnes, ahead the German courier's white-flagged motor car yesterday on the way to Spa, in Belgium, to submit Foch's terms to Hindenburg and the Kaiser.

By that same road a German staff officer and two naval code experts proceeded to Foch's headquarters.

It was like a grim, mocking irony of war, that these momentous dashes in the race for peace failed to influence in the slightest Haig's relentless forward hewing seven miles to the north. On the immediate crossing sector firing ceased for a few hours while the parlementaires passed over No Man's Land.

The new plunge yesterday brought Haig's forces perilously close to Maubeuge and Mons. They now stand less than five miles from the fortress and less than seven miles west of Mons.

Further north they crossed the Scheldt over a front of more than six miles.

"Since November 1, we have taken 8,000 prisoners and captured several hundred guns," Haig announced officially last night.

Capture of Avesnes makes untenable for the Germans what they still hold of the Valenciennes-Hirson railway. The town lies fourteen miles northwest of Hirson, and eight and a half miles southwest of Maubeuge.

The drive on Maubeuge is carried on mainly astride the railway running into the fortress from Le Cateau. Aulnoye, a little town on that railway, six and one-half miles southwest of Maubeuge, was taken by the British two days ago. Today they swung their lines forward on both sides of this railway, their right taking Avesnes and the left shoving further toward Mons.

Dour, seven miles southwest of Mons, is in British hands.

In their drive on and across the Scheldt Canal, Haig's troops took the important town of Conde, six and one-half miles northeast of Valenciennes. Tournai, a big railway intersection thirteen miles east of Lille, has long been an obstinate thorn in the British side. Its fall eliminates the last strongpoint west of the Ghent-Mons line.

GRAND THEATRE

Capacity audiences last night and again this afternoon witnessed that fascinating photoplay, "Tarzan of the Apes," at the Grand Theatre and there is every indication that the house will be crowded at every performance this evening. The Grand will offer a double bill on Monday, composed of the fourth episode of the mystery play, "The Hand of Vengeance," and Franklin Farnum in "The Fighting Grin."

THE DAWN OF PEACE

The spirit of sincere thanksgiving should be manifest when we gather in our respective places of worship tomorrow morning. The Hun is beaten—this is a fact which no one can gainsay nor resist. The haughty representatives of autocracy, instead of bringing England, France or the United States to their knees, are now suppliants at the feet of a French general, who has shown himself to be the superior of the German leaders. The latter, who have shown no mercy to the weak nations which they have invaded and plundered, have at last met their superiors, and the fierce enemy of a few months ago is about to have his teeth extracted and his claws cut. He is no longer a menace to civilization. No more will he rattle his sabre when importuned to act in the way of peace and humanity. His "shining sword," to which he so often referred, is broken. He is helpless and is now throwing himself upon the mercy of those he has so often defied.

Foolish expressions, such as "if you attack us you will find yourself biting granite." or "our shining sword" will settle this and that issue are no longer heard. Bethmann Hollweg, after the United States had been forced into the war said: "We have a number of enemies, but not too many. As to America, the submarines will attend to that country."

It is useless to repeat the many expressions of braggadocio we have heard during the past four years or more. But when we gather tomorrow prayers of thanksgiving should ascend to the Lord of Hosts for delivering the world from the Beast of Berlin, who had mapped out the world for himself. This cruel autocrat is being unmasked in his own country. It seems the time is near when his name will offend the olfactories of the Germans themselves when they realize, as they must, that the Prussian autocrat has brought untold woes upon the Fatherland.

CARELESS AUTOISTS

A white man was fined fifty dollars in the Police Court this morning for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The evidence showed the accused was in charge of a machine in Rosemont early this morning when he collided with a wagon in which two boys weer seated, turning over the vehicle, but fortunately the youngsters escaped serious injury. A captain in the U. S. Army was nearby at the time and he took the chauffeur and two other men who were with him in custody, later turning them over to the police. The man who was operating the car was shown to have been drunk, but the two men with him, while they had been drinking, were not in a condition to be charged with being drunk. They were dismissed.

It is a constant complaint that men drunk, or half drunk, operate automobiles in Alexandria. The state law makes the penalty for such offenses fifty dollars, and it would be well for all interested to take due notice and act accordingly.

Two men were also before the court charged with exceeding the speed limit. The fine in such cases is ten dollars. Others charged with operating machines at an unlawful speed will be arraigned before the court tonight.

Some persons who operate automobiles in our city seem to think we have no rights they are bound to respect. Such may take warning else they will be subjected to a rude awakening should they be called on to face the Police Court.

DEATH OF GEORGE C. ROUND.

The many friends and acquaintances in Alexandria of George C. Round will regret to hear of his death, which occurred at his home in Manassas this week. The deceased was 79 years old.

Mr. Round was one of many federal soldiers who came south during the civil war and at its close preferred to live in Virginia. He took up his residence at Manassas, where for half a century he had taken a prominent part in every movement designed for the welfare of his adopted home.

He was a republican, but not of the Thad Stevens class, and during his long sojourn in the Old Dominion enjoyed the respect and confidence of all who knew him.

We first saw George C. Round in Alexandria in 1871, a time when politics caused much bad blood. He was then in the flush of vigorous manhood, and was scheduled to make a speech at a republican meeting. The writer was one of his auditors, and he impressed us at the time as being a man of conservative views and one destined to become a good citizen of Virginia. We have subsequently seen him in our city, and never have had cause to revise our first opinion of him.

The Manassas Democrat in its announcement of his death says the deceased was born September 14, 1839, at Kingston, Pa., During the war between the states he joined the Union army, where he served in the heavy artillery three years, and was commissioned lieutenant. In 1864 he was transferred to the U. S. Signal Corps, where he served till the end of the war. He sent the last signal message of the war from the dome of the Capitol in Raleigh, N. C., which read "Peace on earth, good will to men."

During the war Lieut. Round came to love the Southland and the people of the South, and subsequently settled in Manassas in 1869, and opened a law office on New Year's Day. During his fifty years of residence he endeavored to replace the loss and heal the wounds sustained in the conflict between the North and the South, and did all in his power to foster a feeling of brotherly love between the blue and the gray. Out of this feeling grew the Jubilee of Peace, which was celebrated in Manassas July 21, 1911, fifty years after the war, of which he was originator and chairman, and on this occasion veterans from both sides met and shook hands.

Lieut. Round came from a line of ancestors, dating back to the Revolution.

Among the honors bestowed upon the deceased was his election as delegate to the Virginia legislature in 1873-74, and the presidency of the U. S. Signal Corps Association. He was a charter member of Manassah Lodge A. F. and A. M.

HUNS' ACHIEVEMENT

In the Kaiser's note to Prince Maximilian laying aside his Peacock Feather and his Yellow Jacket, he dwells unctuously on the marvelous achievement of German arms in this war; but it will occur to his subjects, who make little effort to conceal their desire that he should eliminate himself from the Government, that the war itself would not have occurred but for that imperialistic variety of statesmanship which has been so absolutely discredited that the Kaiser himself is obliged to submit to the amputation of his powers, which operation he camouflages as well as he can by the assurance that "the proposals of the Allied Governments, which are now adopted and extended, owe their origin to this conviction, to wit, that "after the achievements of these times the German people can claim that no right which may guarantee a free and happy future shall be withheld from them."

An exchange asks the question, what are the marvelous achievements of the puissant German army? Germany and Austria together conquered the two little kingdoms of Servia and Rumania, but not at the same time. Probably that would have been beyond them. They conquered Servia while Rumania was a neutral.

There were victories gained over the Russian troops, but there were also defeats suffered at their hands. The collapse of Russia was not achieved by German arms. It was the proud work of German corruption and intrigue, after the imperial power had fallen, and the nation was disintegrating, promoted by the permission of the German General Staff to the Russian traitors, who had German money in their pockets, to kill all the "capitalists" they liked if they did no harm to the industrial plants out of which Germans intended to make money. These are all there are of the marvelous achievements of the German army, as a result of which the Kaiser said nearly a month ago that looking toward the east—certainly not toward the west—he could reverently observe the hand of God in history. Other people can see that hand now as well as he can.

Mrs. A. Waring, 304 N. Patrick St., says: "I suffered awfully from backache and inflammation of the bladder. I used to be in such misery during these attacks I had to have injections of morphine to relieve the pain. The pains in the top and back of my head nearly drove me frantic. I often got so dizzy I could hardly keep from falling. Nothing did me any good until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at E. S. Leadbeater & Son's Drug Store. Ideal Weather Boosts Corn Yield 30,000,000 Over October Estimate.

Washington, Nov. 9. — October weather conditions resulted in an increase of 30,000,000 bushels in the country's crop of corn. The Department of Agriculture's November crop yesterday placed the preliminary estimate of production at 2,749,198,000 bushels. While the crop is smaller in size than last year's its food value is materially greater because the quality this year is more than 10 points higher. With a wheat crop of about 919,000,000 bushels, which is some 100,000,000 bushels more than the average of the last five years and large crops of rye, buckwheat, rice, beans, potatoes, onions and cabbage, the country's food crops this year have been bountiful.

The crop of tobacco is a record one by 70,000,000 pounds, being 1,266,686,000 pounds this year.

What the United War Work Campaign Is!

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS!

There are seven wonderful American organizations devoting their entire time, money and efforts to caring for our Soldiers and Sailors under arms and to the women who are engaged in any sort of war work, here or over there.

These Organizations---

Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic War Council, K. of C., Jewish Welfare Board, War Camp Community Service, American Library Association and Salvation Army have been acting separately, raising the money to carry on their own essential work, but at the request of President Wilson, have now combined in one great drive to secure the necessary funds to further all their purposes during the war.

These splendid agencies have laid aside their individualities and are now all bending their powerful efforts in the one great cause—that of putting the home influence, as nearly as possible, into every nook and corner, crack or hole in the earth where there is an American or allied soldier, besides giving every fighter or worker the support of his or her religion. In fact, wherever you find a soldier or sailor there is evidence of the loving care of the folks back home, expressed through the medium of one of these seven affiliated and co-operating organizations—they go with the boy every step of the way.

The United War Work Campaign

Is the effort to raise $170,500,000 in America, of which Virginia's part is $1,500,000, between November 11 and 18

This money when collected, will be divided between the seven organizations in the following proportion:

Y. M. C. A. 58.65 per cent, or $100,000,000; Catholic War Council K. of C. 17.60 per cent, or $30,000,000; War Work Council of Y. W. C. A., 8.80 per cent, or $15,000,000; War Camp Community Service, 8.80 per cent, or $15,000,000; Jewish Welfare Board, 2.05 per cent, or $3,500,000; American Library Association, 2.05 per cent, or $3,500,000; Salvation Army 2.05 per cent, or $3,500,000.

What the Money Does---

This money will be expended by these organizations to maintain huts, which are open to every allied soldier regardless of his faith, race or color—these huts are the battlefield homes of the boys in France and the camp homes for the lads over here. In these huts the tireless workers of the seven organizations give encouragement to the fight-weary boys, drive the blues away, keep the spirits up, supply writing paper to the extent of 125,000,000 sheets a month, and envelopes, cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, chocolate, cocoa, beds and baths, give information, counsel, entertainments, books—3,600,000 volumes and 5,000,000 periodicals have been sent over, as well as enough scripture and booklets to make a pile twenty miles high if stacked together. In fact, everything that is possible is done for the benefit of our boys' mental and physical comfort, health and general welfare—all the agencies that make life worth while in times of peace are presented under the friendly roof of the hut, the church, the school, the gymnasium, the club, the theatre, the lecture hall and the moving picture show.

America's Women---

The gentle hand and the loving heart of the American woman is materially evidenced in the Hostess Houses around our camps here, as well as her pure, wholesome influence and care for her patriotic sister who has taken a fighting man's place in our industrial and war activities here and over yonder.

No man or woman who has heard from a son on the battle front, and who knows the wealth of mental and physical health that exists under the roof of these huts will regret one red penny given to these organizations to carry on their work.

Military men will certify to this truth that nine happy and contented men can outfight ten men who are lonesome and homesick. If it is worth twenty-four billion dollars to America to keep our men under arms next year, surely it is worth one hundred and seventy and a half million dollars, which is 12c a day for each soldier to make them fight ten per cent more efficiently—to contribute to that factor, as Napoleon said, is "as other factors in war three to one"—that indefinable, indispensable factor, MORALE.

The Other Enemy---

There is another menacing enemy on the battle front besides the horrible, low principled Hun—that is the soul-destroying power of evil influence, which can break a soldier quicker than Uncle Sam can make him. These seven organizations are waging a war of greater import and permanent value to us here—that is, the moulding to character and morale of our young men in war, which not only keeps them in good fighting trim, but gives them a clean, healthy mind and body.

These agencies are with the boy the minute he reports for duty and follow him into the trenches, giving him mental and physical food. After his hard hours of duty, all through the terrible nights on the fire step—along comes the "Y" man, or the secretary of the K. of C., Jewish Welfare Board or Salvation Army—it makes no difference which to the war-weary lad, who may have wet feet, covered with mud and chilled to the bone—who welcomes with a shout this agent of service, coming down the muddy trench with cups of steaming hot coffee or cocoa, doughnuts, perhaps, made and flavored by the motherly hand of one of America's glorious women, there is also a supply of cigarettes and tobacco, all free of charge. This sort of service is the love and care of the folk back home, which has followed your boy to the trenches through these United War Workers, who also act as and assist the stretcher bearers in taking care of the wounded.

The long, friendly, helping arm of these organizations reaches out to aid the boy who is taken prisoner. Through such neutral agencies as the Danish R[illegible]ss they carry out their program of helpfulness even in the prison camps of Germany and Austria.

Differences of creeds and dogma do not divide the men who are fighting and dying together—they stand shoulder to shoulder there in a great common faith in the Fatherhood of God whose creed is service in the spirit of Brotherhood to all men.

When Peace is Declared---

Do not let the present victories and peace rumors mislead you, but when peace is declared there will be more need for the work of these organizations and this money—support the morale of our men—the demobilization will bring added temptation and dangers—we must bring the boys home clean, strong and healthy.

Knowing All These Facts, Will You Hesitate to Respond Liberally to the Committee in Your Community for This Fund Which Renders Such a Service to the Boys Who Are Fighting and Dying That You and What You Have Will Be Safe.

NEWS OF THE DAY

A Republican majority in the next Congress of at least two in the Senate and of not less than 43 in the House was assured from returns yeterday from the scattering doubtful districts of last Tuesday's elections.

Serbian troops have crossed the Danube into Hungary, where they have been received with the greatest enthusiasm, says an official statement issued by the Serbian war office Thursday. The river Zave, which joins the Danube at Belgrade, also has been crossed. Southeast of Belgrade, Serbians have entered Visegrad and entrained for Senajevo at the invitation of the provisional government. The statement adds that five steamers and a monitor were found at Semlia, on the Danube. Some German units are still in Banat (in the southern part of Hungary).

All retail coal dealers in the District of Columbia were notified in an order issued today by Frank G. Jones, Federal fuel director for the District, that no person shall charge more than 75 cents a ton for storing coal in householders' bins. This order followed complaints of excessive charges, in some cnes as much as $2.50 a ton, for putting the coal into bins in cellars after sidewalk delivery had been made.

No immediate reduction of the government program for production or conservation of coal or oil during the winter will follow the actual signing of the armistice terms by Germany. Cessation of hostilities will unquestionably tend to relieve the demand for bituminous coal to supply the needs of the navy, but there will be no sudden relaxation of present regulations of the Fuel Administration during the approaching cold season.

Mrs. Louise Thompson, widow of Howard N. Thompson, one time correspondent of the Associated Press at Paris and Petrograd, and her daughter, Margaret, 10 years old, were killed Thursday night at the height of the celebration in Yonkers over the false armistice reports, when an automobile struck and hurled them under a trolley car. They were caught in a pocket in the crowd while crossing a street shortly before midnight. The driver of the motor car was arrested, charged with homicide.

The Secretary of State yesterday issued the following statement: "I am requested and authorized by the President to state that no information reaching this government concerning the armistice negotiations in France has been withheld; that any statement to the contrary is utterly false and that as soon as a definite decision in regard to the armistice has been reached it will be immediately made public by the government."

Continuation of the Food Administration organization at least for a considerable time after peace shall be proclaimed is one of the government's reconstruction plans, it was learned yesterday.

Capt. Koenig was killed while raising the kaiser's ensign on the warship Flensburg. It is probable the above refers to Capt. Koenig, who commanded the German merchant submarine Deutschland.

Provost Marshal General Crowder called into conference yesterday the heads of all sections of his office to discuss possible suspension of the November draft calls, under which more than 300,000 men have been ordered to army camps.

GERMANS LET PRISONERS DIE

With the Ally Armies in France and Belgium, Nov. 9.—"I have seen hundreds of British wounded, who had been taken prisoner, die in the German hospitals for lack of food," a sister of St. John's Military Hospital at Lequesnoy told the United Press.

The sister, who served as a nurse throughout the long enemy occupation of the town, welcomed the New Zealand troops who first entered the place, crying, "Don't show the Germans any mercy."

In telling her story afterward, the sister said it was impossible for her to obtain enough food to keep her patients alive. Four Americans who were in the hospital at one time survived, however.

Before Lequesnoy capitulated, the New Zealanders sat on the outer wall, sharpening their bayonets in full view of the Germans. The latter, according to a prisoner, recalled the stories circulated among them in 1914 that the New Zealanders are cannibals.

The New Zealand unit made a triumphal entry into the principal square behinu a band, with girls nad boys dancing alongside their columns.

Of the 5,000 original inhabitants, 1,700 had left, all men of working age evacuating the town a fortnight ago.
